

Dear Ross Community Members,

The Ross School of Business students, faculty and staff strive to create an environment of respect, trust and consideration that allows each of us to develop and achieve as much as possible. This extends to everything we do -- valuing each member of the community on and off campus, maintaining professional conduct at recruiting and social events, and striving to do our personal best academically. This commitment is critical in order to sustain an environment that is fair and in which each person can be confident that he/she is able to pursue academic excellence.

To help each of us better understand the expectations of personal and academic conduct, the following documents summarize key policies and procedures. On our website you will find:

- Statement of Community Values, which defines the elements that are important to the Ross community.
- Academic Honor Code
- Code of Student Conduct
- Process for Student Disputes with Instructors
- Plagiarism and Copyright Resources
- Violation Reporting Form
- Frequently Asked Questions
- Faculty Resources
- Contact Information

Should you have any questions, please contact the Chair of the Community Values Committee, the Office of Student Life, the Associate Dean for Degree Programs, or your SGA Community Values and Ethics representative.

Sincerely,

The Community Values Committee
